

GRGEČ / EUROPEAN PERCH (Perca fluviatilis)

Široko je rasprostranjena vrsta u Europi i Aziji. Glavna oznaka su dvije leđne peraje koje može posve priljubiti uz tijelo da se jedva vide i onda ih posve podignuti. Love u jatu, jer su spori plivači. Dnevni su lovci, a noću spavaju na dnu posve neaktivni.

It is a widely distributed species in Europe and Asia. Its main characteristic is the two dorsal fins which it can press tightly against its body, making them barely visible, and then raise them completely. They hunt in shoals because they are slow swimmers. They are diurnal hunters and sleep at the bottom completely inactive during the night.
